OIL IN MAGOFFIN.

Good Results Found at an Immense Depth.

Owing to the oil excitement prevailing throughout Eastern Kentucky during the past year, much interest is manifested in the prospecting of a well some fifteen miles from Jackson, in Magoffin county. On the farm of Harrison G. Arnett, near Hendricks, in Magoffin county, the Gill Oil Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., composed of Henry Cooper, C. W. Pratt and L. H. Gormley, superintendent, have been boring for oil. The enormous depth of 2,382 feet has been reached, 183 feet in solid red rock, but all the way down to that point, rock of the slate and lime variety was penetrated.

At the distance of 743 feet the flow of water became so great as to overcome the gas, bursting the plug at the top of the seven inch pipe, shooting into the air eighty feet, and in less than thirty minutes 500 barrels of water escaped to the surface in this way, raising the creek nearly to the depth of three inches. At the depth of 1,850 feet a heavy flow of gas set in. Six men, four drillers and two others, worked on this immense hole, and they report their confidence in a good supply of oil to be developed in that immediate locality, which is evidenced by the fact that in a few weeks they will begin operations on another well within 250 feet of the present one, this one having been abandoned. A good flow of oil was, however, realized from the present well. They were engaged in the work from May 20, 1895, to October 1, suspending operations a while in the meantime to bore wells in Knott county.

Shooting in Breathitt County.

A Jackson special of January 17, says "Trouble has been brewing for some time between James Frazier Jr., and George Smith over a certain damsel, who had won the affection of both men, and they became jealous of each other. The affair culminated this afternoon, when the two parties met at a small grog shop near the mouth of Quicksand, in this county, and, after filling up on bad whisky, soon became involved in a quarrel, during which Frazier knocked Smith down, and would, perhaps, have killed him had not other parties interfered and Smith got out of the shop. Being crazed by drink and the excitement of the moment, Smith, as he ran away from the shop with pistol in hand, saw William Smith, who was a brother-in-law, and James Frazier, Sr., who was the father of his rival, and without a word of warning he shot and, it is thought, mortally wounded the former and dangerously hurt the latter. The two wounded men had nothing to do with the quarrel, and were simply shot because they were relatives of James Frazier, Jr. Smith immediately took to the woods after the shooting and is still at large, although a strong posse has gone in search of him."

An Old Soldier's Recommendation.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found that that would give me relief it would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief, and only that result follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all my old comrades, who, while giving their services to their country, contracted this dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food.

Yours truly, A. E. Bending, Halsey, Oregon. For sale by John M. Rose.

J. H. Rose sold to O. W. Cecil his farm on Lacy creek for $600.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of taxes due me for the year 1895, I, or one of my deputies will, on MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1896, at the Court House door, in the town of Campton, Wolfe county, Ky., expose to public sale, for cash in hand, the following tracts of land, viz:

District No. 7.—Nickell, Rebecca, 70 acres, adj. lands of George Clark. Value $230. Cost $2.75 and all cost for advertising.

S. H. WILSON, S. W. C.

Worthily Remembered.

The many friends of Jesse Swango, who lives at Swango station south of Paris about five miles, on Thursday remembered him once more of the high esteem and love in which he is so universally held by all his friends, neighbors and relatives.

Mr. Swango is one of Edgar county's earliest settlers and one of our most highly respected citizens, having emigrated to this county from Kentucky in the early 50's. He has accumulated a small fortune, and now at the age of sixty-five, lives in comfortable retirement at his beautiful country home.

Thus after so many years of honest usefulness, his friends thought it a fitting reminder of his place in their respect, to visit him on the occasion of his sixty-fifth birthday, without previous notification and spread before him a royal dinner in commemoration of the event.

About seventy-five persons arranged to be present and so adroitly was it planned that Mr. Swango was not aware of his friends presence until upon his return from a neighbor's, to which place he had been allured. He found them in his home awaiting his arrival. Many good things were said by those present about their honored friend's benevolence, honesty and industry, but limited space prevents their reproduction here. All left in the afternoon, wishing him a long lease of life that they may learn from the example of an honest man.—Paris Morning Gazette.

A daily newspaper, with all the name implies, 312 days in the year, and THE HERALD one year, all for $2.50, is one of the miracles of cheap journalism. But we have arranged with the publishers of the Louisville Evening Post for this great combination. If you want daily market reports, or full and fair reports from Washington or Frankfort, you should send your subscriptions to us at once. The Evening Post does not color its news, so you get all the news straight. The state news of the Evening Post is the best department in any daily paper. Remember, The Evening Post and this journal for $2.50.

Of the many very kind and complimentary notices we have received from various papers throughout the state, and for which we now bow our acknowledgments, no mention of our new enterprise has been more thoroughly appreciated than the following from the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, edited by that prince of good fellows, Spencer Cooper. We carry with us many pleasant recollections of Hazel Green and its clever, hospitable people, and had it not been for the concentrated life we encountered (labeled brandy) while on a trip to Campton to attend a convention, we might still be taking an occasional drink from the health giving and exhilarating Swango springs, situated near Hazel Green.—Jack Wilson in the Log Cabin.

If you are indebted to this office on subscription, job work or advertising, you will oblige us very much by coming to the Captain's office and paying your dues. We need a little of the filthy lucre about as bad as a hobo does a meal's victuals at times, and your promptness will relieve our distress and be forever appreciated. Never mind the rush. Come on and we'll try and attend your wants.

Wanted, 500 bushels of good Wheat. Will pay 75c. per bushel, on notes and accounts, or in merchandise, including flour (B. Kerr brand) wheat to be delivered at my store in Hazel Green.

J. T. DAY.

Here is a little piece of sensible advice that an exchange offers to the charitably inclined, free of charge. "We would like to offer a suggestion to the people of this town for this winter. Don't ship a box of clothing and provisions a thousand miles away when there is a little box freezing just around the corner, probably within a foot of you. It is right to send help away, but take care of the destitute at your own door before going any further away. Do not hesitate about giving a Presbyterian coat to a Methodist boy or a Methodist pair of pants to a Lutheran. Give the clothing to needy, regardless of the religious faith of his parents or his relatives, and you will have done an act that is commendable in the eyes of the Almighty."

Burning Pain

Erysipelas in Face and Eyes

Inflammation Subdued and Tortures Ended by Hood's.

"I am so glad to be relieved of my tortures that I am willing to tell the benefits I have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. In April and May, I was afflicted with erysipelas in my face and eyes, which spread to my throat and neck. I tried various ointments and alternatives, but there was no permanent abatement of the burning torturing pain, peculiar to this complaint. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pain Marked Relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued to improve until, when I had taken four Willie, the 16-year old son of J. T. Stephenson, of Bethlehem neighborhood in Morgan county, had his right leg broken three inches above the ankle on Friday last, while "sinking" logs down a hill with a mule. He was holding the log on the lower side with a hand-pike, which was jerked from his grasp and the log rolled over a precipice, catching the young man in the fall. Only for the breaking of the top hame-string, the mule and 7-year old boy riding it would have gone over with the log. Dr. Nickell, of this place, was called to see the young man and set the broken limb, which is now doing nicely.

When thousands of people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to overcome the weakness and languor which are so common at this season, why are you not doing the same? When you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to cure rheumatism, dyspepsia and all diseases caused by impure blood, why do you continue to suffer? Hood's cures others, why not you?

Morgan county whiskey and anti-whiskey men are having a lively fight over the repeal of the ten-gallon law. The law was passed about four years ago and prohibited the sale of malt or spirituous liquors, made by manufacturers, in less than ten gallon lots. The whiskey men have been having repeal petitions circulated everywhere, and the anti-whiskey men are not very slow in shoving counter petitions.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18, 1895.
Congressional affairs have not been exciting this week. In the senate the free coinage substitute for the house bill has the right of way as the "unfinished business," and is daily debated for something like two hours. This program will be continued until the bill is voted upon, just when that will be has not been decided, but it is believed that the silver senators, who are doing the most of the talking, will continue the debate until the Utah senators, both of whom are counted upon to vote for the bill, take their seats. It's really necessary to get those two votes to pass the bill; it is merely making assurance doubly sure to wait for them. The silver question is in one respect like the tariff. It is difficult to say anything new about it. The speech that attracted the most attention in the senate was that of Senator Mills, of Texas, which although upon finance was not either for or against the free coinage bill. Mr. Mills arraigned the administration for its entire financial policy, and was especially severe upon the national banks, and at its close was complimented by Senator Puffer, who said he regarded it as a justification of the principles of the Populist party. How Senator Mills will vote on the free coinage bill seems to be a matter of doubt. It will be remembered that he made a long statement last year over his own signature against the free coinage of silver.

The house has devoted the greater part of the week to the regular pension appropriation bill, which carries several important amendments. As usual when this bill is up there has been much oratory in which members, regardless of party, who have a large "old soldier" constituency expressed their undying love, etc., for the brave veterans who fought thirty-odd years ago and who also voted to send the orators to congress, and who will have a chance to do some more voting next November. All of which, men and brethren, is human nature.

If the applause which greeted a reference made by Representative Cummings, of New York, to the government making the Pacific railroads disgorge indicates the sentiment of the house some positive legislation on that subject may be looked for at this session. Mr. Cummings was making a speech in favor of better treatment for applicants for pensions when he said that if the government needed money it had better make the Pacific railroads disgorge than cut off deserving pensioners.

Secretary Hoke Smith has notified the members of the Dawes Indian commission to come to Washington and defend their report on the condition of Indian Territory, which is being vigorously attacked by the representatives of the Indians, who are especially opposed to the bill for the establishment of a territorial government. The fight both for and against that bill is getting decidedly warm.

Chairman Hepburn of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, has appointed a sub-committee of seven to look after Nicaragua canal legislation. It is expected that President Cleveland will shortly send to congress the report made by the commission that investigated the route of the canal and the work done thereon, and that the report will be accompanied by a special message defining the president's attitude towards the project.

It is nothing new to say that public opinion is fickle. But a very striking example of its fickleness in Washington is shown by some of the men who were only a short time ago coarsely that nothing could avert a war between the United States and England. Now these same men are commending England for extending the same protection to Americans residing in the Transvaal republic, where the United States has no diplomatic representatives, as to British citizens, and talking about England and the United States being natural allies.

The most important political event of the week was the meeting of the National Democratic Committee to select the time and place for the Democratic national convention. There was quite a rivalry between the cities which wanted to entertain the convention and its visitors, but today the defeated delegations are fraternizing with the winners and they are all happy—at least, they say they are.

The house tariff bill is still deadlocked in the senate finance committee. When it will be reported to the senate no one really knows. Those who said it would be reported this week are now saying it will be reported next week.

The house committee on territories is now considering the Arizona statehood bill. It is generally predicted that this bill and similar bills for New Mexico and Oklahoma will be favorably reported, but nobody seems to have been able to ascertain Speaker Reed's attitude toward either or all of them. Upon his attitude will depend their fate. The house will almost certainly pass them if given an opportunity.

Mr. J. B. Thompson requests us to thank the good people of this community for the kindness shown them during the sickness of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Johnson.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds. It opens the secretions, relieves the lungs and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. It freely used as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the severity of the attack and has often cured in a single day what would have been a severe cold. EUREKA CHEMICAL AND MFG. CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.
Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco chomper for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, and my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Kewy Cure,"
"No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago today I commenced using your preparation, and today I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it. Yours very truly, C. W. HORNICK.
